ITEMS OF ALL SORTS.

—The remains of Adah Isaacs Menken are to be brought home.

—There is a Princess in Europe whose bonnets cost $20,000 a year.

—The Queen of Prussia, who, for ten years past, always was in feeble health, has entirely recovered, it is said, by eating plenty of grapes every day.

—Secretary Seward denies emphatically that he is about to lead to the altar a beautiful and accomplished young lady, and is accused of remarking to a friend recently that there was "not a d—d word of truth in it."

—The odor arising from whalebones in corsets has been considered so disagreeable that an ingenious modiste has arranged a perfume to be placed in the corset which will counterbalance the ancient and fish-like smell, and prove quite acceptable to those of the fair sex who encompass themselves in these "hold-me-tights."

—The foreign mails bring the particulars of the attempted assassination of the Viceroy of Egypt. While the Viceroy was examining an illumination put up in a narrow street, a steel ball armed with sharp points was dropped into his carriage. No gunpowder was used, and the ball striking the side of the vehicle, the Viceroy escaped uninjured. No clue has been obtained in reference to the perpetrator of this assault.

—A convention of colored men, called at the instance of the Civil and Political Rights Association, a society organized by the expelled colored members of the Georgia Legislature, met in Macon, Ga., on October 6th, and, after a session of three days, adopted an address setting forth the political condition of the colored race in Georgia, and concluding with resolutions favoring the support of the Republican party.

—The statistics of prostitution in Hamburg show that of the registered "social evils" there, ninety per cent. are natives of Germany. Among the "fallen angels" from foreign countries are nine American girls, seven colored women, thirty-seven French women, eighteen English women, seven Italian women, two Spanish women, one Mexican woman, twenty-three Danish women, fourteen Swedish women, etc.

—A few days since, a hackman driving down the Rue du Bac gave a severe cut with his whip to a dog who was quietly trotting along the street. The dog ran after the driver, barking angrily. The driver gave him another cut; the dog adroitly caught the lash in his mouth, and as the horses were moving rapidly the driver was obliged to let go his whip The dog broke it into three pieces, to the amusement of the bystanders and confusion of the hack driver.

—Kate Rentz, the famous equestrienne, who in 1859 accompanied the Emperor of Austria to the Italian war, and of whom Francis Joseph was so enamored that the supplications of his mother, the Archduchess Sophia, to dismiss her and give no further encouragement to the scandalous stories then in circulation about him and his mistress, were utterly fruitless, now keeps a coffee-house in Mantua, which the Emperor of Austria is said to have bought for her.

—A young fellow by the name of Maurice F., a native of Pesth, has broken twenty tender female hearts in Vienna. The young rake promised to marry all these women, some of whom were not yet seventeen, while others were over forty years old. He seduced four-fifths of them, borrowed all the money they had, and then left the city. But the police pursued and caught him, and he is now in jail in Vienna. He is only nineteen years old.

—A journal, entitled the New Times, published at St. Petersburg, advocates a more intimate alliance and co-operation between Russia and the United States. The New Times enthusiastically exclaims: "Our national hymn and Yankee Doodle, our double-headed eagle and the starry banner might, on occasion, show to Europe that the Russian monarchy and the great American Republic can march together in earnest for earnest ends."

—The death of Gen. Jacquemont, cousin of the Oriental traveler, is announced by the French papers. It is stated that the General was the first person, when at the head of his troops in 1848, and when the present Emperor was President of the Republic, to give orders to the different bands of the regiments under his command to perform the air of "La Reine Hortense." Louis Napoleon was so much pleased at this that he drove up to the General and told him nothing could have afforded him greater pleasure.

—San Francisco expected when the Parepa-Rosa troupe announced the "Creation" that it was to be given in a strict Biblical costume. The indelicacy of Parepa appearing as "Eve" so shocked one honest citizen there that he wrote to his newspaper to inquire if it would be proper, under the circumstances, to take his family. The reply was that as "Adam" would wear a dress-coat, and "Eve" hoops and a train, there couldn't perhaps, be much harm in indulging the ladies.

—The latest Paris fashion is to have on one's table an album called "confessions." Each page contains twenty-four questions, which one answers as honestly, as wittily, or as fancifully as one pleases. In some of the albums now current contain the autographs of our most distinguished people. A favorite amusement of the contributors to these albums is to assume a character and keep it till all the questions have been answered. One person writes as if she were a cook; another as if he were a hostler, and so on.

—Last Friday, when the steamer Milwaukee went ashore on Lake Michigan, Capt. Louis Bordewitch, of the schooner Hibbard, made three trips to the steamer at the risk of his own life, and saved seventeen persons. Next day, a fishing boat was capsized off Grand Haven; and Capt. Bordewitch, seeing the accident from the shore, procured assistance, launched a lifeboat, pushed through a furious surf, and saved the crew of the fishing-boat, four in number, who were clinging to their craft, and nearly exhausted. The gallant Captain deserves a handsome public acknowledgement for his heroism.

—Levi Pitts Gregory, made crazy by a fright during the war, hanged himself in a curious way, at Dixon Springs, Tenn., the other day. In the morning he was unusually excited, and started for the woods. Search was soon after made for him, and next day he was found hanging by the neck in the fork of a limb of an immense sugar-tree, sixty-three feet from the ground. The tree was three feet in diameter, and limbless for forty feet from the ground. He had climbed the body of the tree, ascended to the upper limb, crawled out fifteen feet upon that, and dropped himself into the forks, and so perished.

—James Walsh, five years old, was burned to death in St. Louis on Wednesday, his clothes having taken fire from a stove. On the same day, Powell Hoff, aged seventeen years, died of burns received several days before. He was kindling a fire with coal oil, when the can exploded. On Thursday, in the same place, Rev. Mr. Langley was severely burned by the explosion of some chemicals, which he was preparing for the exhibition of dissolving views, for the benefit of the Mission Sunday-school. His little son was also severely injured.

—Says the Pensacola Observer of the 13th: Two schooners, with cargoes of railroad iron crossed the bar yesterday, and anchored last night opposite the city. The schooner Wanata, Capt. Carr, in addition to the 1700 bars of iron, brought 380 bales of hay, and is at present unloading the same at the Central Wharf. The other schooner, Albert Thomas, Capt. Rogers, brings 1995 bars of railroad iron. All this iron is to be landed and laid down immediately. The arrival of these two vessels, with their truly valuable cargoes, has infused new life into the hitherto despondent, and given an increased impetus to business. In four weeks it is expected to have the cars running to Molino, then "all aboard" for Selma. The above named vessels were detained on their route by the recent stress of weather, and we have reason to rejoice that both of them weathered the storms, and came safely to anchor in our capacious harbor.

—The National Garde Mobile of France, it is stated, will soon be organized, the rules for their government having been drawn up and communicated to the Mayors and Prefects of the districts. The Garde will be armed with the muskets recently carried by the regular troops, converted into breech-loaders on the Snider system. These weapons will be placed in a depot at each of the headquarters. These establishments, in which the clothes and equipments of the Garde will also be stored, are to be under the surveillance of the local police, and subject to the inspection of the engineer officer of each department.

—A Commercial Convention is now in session in Norfolk, Va., with the special object of perfecting measures for the completion of the railroads between the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and Norfolk, and for the establishment of a line of steamers from that port to Europe. A consolidation of the roads from Richmond through Danville, Va., Greensboro', N. C., Charlotte, N. C., and Atlanta, is proposed. The line of steamers to Europe, it is stated, will be started at once with two vessels, and about half the necessary outlay will be contributed in England.

—Mr. Burlingame, according to dispatches received by the Atlantic cable, will succeed in carrying out the objects of his mission. His personal intercourse with the prominent men in London appears to have effected a favorable impression, and the attacks in the English newspapers upon the treaty negotiated with Mr. Seward, and upon the objects of the mission, have ceased to appear. Dispatches received in London from all parts of Europe show that the Continental nations are favorably disposed towards Mr. Burlingame, and that he and his associates will be cordially welcomed at the different courts.

—The Sultan of Bornou sent the King of Prussia several valuable presents, by Gerhard Rohlfs, the famous African traveler. The King has recently sent the Sultan, in return, a fine gilded throne, a richly embroidered cloak, a dozen gold and silver watches, and half a dozen needle guns. The Sultan had told Rohlfs that he wanted the King to send him a carriage; but, as the transport of a carriage would be rather difficult, and the Sultan, moreover, did not know what to do with it, his wish was not complied with. Queen Victoria presented him, some time ago, with a carriage; but this carriage is drawn empty, in the gala processions, the King walking beside it.

—While laborers were demolishing an old building in Twenty-seventh street, N. Y., on Wednesday, they discovered, in an old rat's nest, a roll of bills amounting to $250. About eighty years ago one of the occupants of the house lost the money. At the time of this loss a young man named Wm. Cummings, a clerk in a down town tea store, was boarding at the house, and as he was the last one seen in the room prior to the loss, he was suspected of the robbery, and, on being arrested, was convicted of the crime and sent to prison, with character ruined, bereft of friends. He gave way to dissipation, and eventually died on Blackwell's Island.

—There is a good deal of vivacity displayed in the English Parliamentary canvass, just now, and, for a people who pride themselves on freedom from the vulgarity and other vices of American politics, it is of rather a stunning character. At a political dinner in Rugby, one of the Tory speakers asserted that he "would go twenty miles to see Mr. Gladstone hanged;" and in South Warwickshire a Tory voter proclaimed his anxiety to have a candidate "who would pledge himself to assassinate John Bright." The Liberals, however, display the same Christian spirit occasionally. The Tory candidate in Deal is a Mr. Worms, who is of Jewish birth and religion, and the Liberals have published a ferociously illiberal placard against him, on account of his Jewish origin.

—The threatening attitude of France and Germany is still bringing out expressions of opinion from writers of both nations. Prevost Paradol, in treating of the subject, recently compared France to a dog wagging his tail, and watching for his master to throw a stone, in order to rush out in pursuit. In reply to his assertion that the unity of Germany was hostile to the safety of France, the Allgemeine Zeitung asserts that at present Germany is far from being a unit; that the military and commercial treaties with the Southern States form a much weaker bond of union than the recent confederation, while, as for the future, there are no indications of a greater centralization.

—Our English cousins have a sensation in the shape of poisoned hosiery. Mr. Webber, a medical man, affirms that the coloring matter in many of the socks now sold in London contains a poisonous element which produced irritating sores on the feet of several of his patients, and that in other cases which had come to his knowledge, the dye had proved equally deleterious. He said that, on his representations, a large manufacturing firm in the city had countermanded an order they had given for an enormous quantity of these bright colored socks. He had not yet ascertained what was the nature of the poison, but as soon as he acquires this information he will let the public know what antidote they should use.

—We copy from the Pensacola Commercial, of the 13th, the following particulars of the disaster to the steamship Alliance: She left Apalachicola on the 8th inst., at 4 o'clock p.m., with fair weather, passed Cape St. Blais, when a heavy norther sprung up, and having lost her sails in the gale she encountered between Key West and Tampa, the captain wore in under land for more security, but unfortunately ran in too close, and struck on a point of land, where the boat now remains hard and fast. She had forty-eight passengers on board, and it is a pleasure to announce that no casualties occurred in loss of life, and but very little damage done to her freight. It is supposed that the steamer is intact, the only difficulty being in getting sufficient power to relieve her from her present position. The captain and crew are aboard of her waiting for proper assistance. The purser and passengers arrived here last night in small boats, all well and in good spirits. They speak of the captain and crew in the most praiseworthy terms, attaching no blame whatever to them for the sad occurrence.

—A New York paper of October 1st contained an announcement that Felix Samuels, a Detroit lawyer, had committed suicide on September 30th, in Jersey City. Yesterday the gentleman alluded to made his appearance in Pittsburg. It appears that he had gone on to New York, to see some parties on a suit he had charge of in an Illinois court. He is a Jew, and, some seven weeks ago, married a Christian woman. He says his relatives were much opposed to the marriage, and used all their exertions to have him abandon his wife. He received a fee of one thousand dollars for undertaking the cause alluded to, and started with one of the parties to New York city, where he met his relatives. They induced him, during the interview, to take some wine. After drinking he became unconscious, and continued in that state until the 11th of October. When he recovered his senses he found himself in a farm-house, twelve miles from Jersey City. The farmer informed Samuels that he had been brought there by two negroes. Samuels has made affidavit before a notary of the facts here related. He is still very weak from the effects of the poison, and is on his way home.

SUGAR CROP IN LOUISIANA.

The Yield of this Year Set Down at 120,000 Hogsheads.

The damage to the sugar crop in Louisiana, though quite serious in some sections, has not been so disastrous as at first reported. The crop is now set down at 120,000 hogsheads, which is a vast increase over that of last year. A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune, writing from the parish of Plaquemines, one of the best sugar parishes of the State, says:

From every locality where the sugar cane is cultivated on this coast, the yield both in quantity and quality promises to be a fit ending to a glorious spring, summer and autumn. The atmospheric conditions of the last few days have checked vegetation and are hastening maturation.

Last year grinding commenced here on the second of November; the probability is that some of our mills will, this season, be in full operation before the end of the month.

The first lot of sugar of last year's growth, manufactured in this parish, reached your market on the 4th of November; in 1866, on the 5th of November; in 1865, on the 10th of November; in 1864, on the 22d of November, and in 1863, on the 12th of November.

Last year the winter was so unusually mild that the sugar cane bloomed in some of our more favorable localities, which had not occurred here since 1852

GOV. BROWNLOW DIVIDES PROFITS.

Our Governor Bargains for a Share of the Rewards he Offers for Criminals.

From the Nashville Banner]

During the late term of the Circuit Court at Smithville, DeKalb county, Judge McLain presiding, a murder case was tried in which Judge Mansen M. Brien, of this city, was engaged. In the course of his argument Judge Brien made the startling declaration that "there is a regular partnership existing between William G. Brownlow and Col. Blackburn on the following terms: That the said Col. Blackburn shall arrest and convey to Nashville all men in that section of the State who are accused of horse-stealing, murder and other crimes, and that when they have arrived in Nashville, and before they are tried, Brownlow shall offer a reward for their arrest, Brownlow and Blackburn divide the money between them, sharing equally in the profits arising from Brownlow's recent proclamation."

Judge Brien elicited this statement from the evidence of Col. Blackburn. He denounced the partnership as a "species of infamy heretofore unknown," and further stated that "he expected to be assassinated for exposing the parties, and that the speech he was then making was the last he ever expected to be permitted to make at the bar."

The above report of Judge Brien's speech was received from an attorney in the case—a lawyer of distinguished ability, and one whose moral sense was shocked at the idea of such depravity as that exhibited by Brownlow in thus prostituting the Executive office to the vile purpose of filling his pockets with dishonest gains.

The Hartsville Vidette says of the villainous conspiracy:

"The case in all its horrible details was brought to light in open court at Smithville before the Hon. Judge McLain, and from his well known zeal in punishing illegal acts, it is fair to presume that the name of William G. Brownlow will soon figure in the list of indictments by the DeKalb county grand jury, and that he will learn that such exemplifications of "loyalty" will not be allowed in the Mountain Circuit, and especially in the chivalrous county of DeKalb."

SPAIN.

How the Revolution was Accomplished in Madrid.

The special correspondent of the London Standard thus describes the rising of Madrid on the 29th, when the first news of the insurgent victory over Novaliches arrived:

At 11 o'clock I was down by the British Embassy, when on a sudden I saw the people beginning to run. Instantly an excitement manifested itself everywhere. The shopkeepers began to put up their shutters, the balconies were filled with spectators, and the streets with hurrying men and women. "Madrid has pronounced," my guide said, "they will be firing in the Puerta del Sol in another minute. We had better wait here." Much against his wishes I insisted on hurrying back to my hotel, which was fortunately situated in the said Puerta del Sol. This square, or rather oval, is the very heart of Madrid. It is about 250 yards long by 100 wide; eight of the principal streets converging here, and in the center is a fountain.

When I reached the square I found some 3000 or 4000 persons present, the soldiers who had previously been stationed in front of the public offices having been withdrawn into the building, the gates of which were closed. The greatest excitement prevailed. Men were speaking, waving their hands over their heads, throwing up their caps and shouting. The news was everywhere circulated that the troops would not fight. However, it was known that they were massed in the public buildings, the theater and the barracks, and at any moment it was possible that they might march out. Presently a troop of dragoons appeared upon the scene, and endeavored to clear the square. The people thronged around them, cheered, threw up their hats, adjured the soldiers to declare for their country. For some time the issue was doubtful, and the dragoons moved slowly across the square. Every moment, however, the crowd thickened, and the enthusiasm became greater. The people literally hung round the horses' necks, and brought the troops to a stand-still by mere weight of numbers. Now the door of the public building, which had been besieged by a shouting throng, opened, and an officer appeared at it and waved his cap to the people in token that the troops had joined them. The cheering was now tremendous. The officer in command of the cavalry, finding that he could do nothing, drew off his soldiers amid enthusiastic vivas. The excitement now going on is beyond all description, and writing is almost an impossibility. The General commanding the Civic Guard has just been in the square, and has joined in the cheering. Concha has resigned, and there is no one to command anything. The windows of the public building, which is exactly opposite this hotel, are crowded with troops, who look on quietly but without joining in the cheering. Flags are now making their appearance among the excited mass, and, assured that the pronunciamento has succeeded, every window is putting out banners and hangings. The favorite motto on the flags is "National Sovereignty." An even louder cheer than ordinary calls me to the window in time to see some men climb up on each others' shoulders and place one of these flags at a first floor window of the public building, the soldiers retiring from the window and closing the shutters as the people do so. From a large balcony on the story above a party of officers watch the proceedings without interfering either way. To add to the tremendous din and excitement, the church bells begin to ring, and now as the church clock strikes one, the climax is attained by the officers in the public buildings themselves draping the balconies. This may be considered the finishing stroke of the revolution. It is a fait accompli. There is no longer a Queen of Spain. Already the royal arms are being pulled down from the public buildings.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

A Madrid correspondent, writing on the evening of the 9th ult., says the revolutionists have been venting their fury upon inanimate objects. Everywhere the arms, busts, crowns and inscriptions bearing the names or titles of the Queen and her family, were taken down and trodden under foot. The Calle de la Reina was instantly transformed into Calle de Prim; the Plaza del Principe Alfonso is called Plaza de Topete. The face of the King Consort on a painting was besmeared with filth. With these exceptions the Madrid revolution was the most exemplary and at the same time the tamest popular outbreak the world ever witnessed. From noon to very late evening there was, properly, no government whatsoever in the city. The immense mass of the population was in the best of humors; they jostled one another in the narrow streets with hearty greetings and congratulations, occasionally also with jeer and banter, beside themselves with joy, brimfull of mutual love, shouting "Viva Prim!" and protesting that "La Reina ya no manda mas!"—(There is an end of the Queen's rule here) Most of the shops were shut, not owing to fear, but to a desire that masters and men had to go forth and have their share of the intoxication of the hour. The people generally behaved themselves, however, and no disturbance was recorded. To the display of gay cloths at the windows by daylight, there succeeded the exhibition of bright lights at nightfall.

THE SITUATION.

A Cheering Out-look from a National Stand-point.

What is Thought of the Prospect at Washington.

Special to the Louisville Journal.]

WASHINGTON, October 16.—The Democratic Committee is preparing for a prosecution of the campaign with unwonted vigor, and I find, by comparing notes with prominent Democrats in this city, that the prospect, so far from being gloomy, is really very bright.

The feeling in regard to the election of Seymour, is as deep as ever. Far from being discouraged, the Democrats everywhere are resolved to move on in their fixed purpose, and to accomplish the election of their candidates. There has been a disappointment about Pennsylvania, but the belief is general that the Democracy of that State intend to contest every inch of ground, and that it is not at all desperate, for the 15,000 rejected Democratic voters will vote in November. It is within the recollection of many that Pennsylvania once gave a majority of 20,000 at an October election and in November the unsuccessful party carried the day. With Pennsylvania our success was beyond a doubt. But we had votes to spare, and with even her twenty-six votes against us, we see bright prospects for Seymour. In winning Ohio the "Dutch have only captured Holland" again. It has been a fixed star of Radicalism since the birth of that party, and it was only the brilliant canvass of last year which encouraged the hope of better things. In looking over the field, we now admit the following States to the Radicals:

Florida	3	Ohio	21
Iowa	8	Rhode Island	4
Maine	7	Tennessee	10
Massachusetts	12	Vermont	5
Michigan	8	Nebraska	3

Total............81

On the other hand we concede as Democratic.

Alabama	9	California	5
Connecticut	6	Delaware	3
Georgia	9	Indiana	13
Kentucky	10	Maryland	7
Mississippi	7	Nevada	3
New Jersey	7	New York	33
North Carolina	10	Texas	4
Virginia	10

Total............137

Of the remaining States which we class as doubtful, we consider that the Democrats have far the best chance of carrying:

Arkansas	4	Louisiana	6
Missouri	11	South Carolina	6

This would make a total of 166 votes even if we should lose Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, all of which will be hotly contested, and in none of which can the Radicals be deemed secure in the small majorities by which those States have been carried. To elect Grant the Radicals must carry every one of the last named States, and must secure eight electoral votes from the column which we have counted as reasonably safe for Seymour. With high hopes for the ides of November, our friends are called upon to place their shoulders to the wheel and manfully push on, regardless of every obstacle and heedless of the pretended confidence of their opponents, which will soon be proved mere idle boastings.

THE LATE HOWELL COBB.

Funeral Obsequies of the Deceased Statesman at Athens, Georgia.

From the Augusta (Ga) Constitutionalist of the 17th instant]

We learn that the funeral of Gen. Cobb in Athens on Thursday last, was the largest and most imposing ceremony of the kind ever witnessed in that place.

The special train from Savannah which conveyed his remains, reached Athens early Thursday morning, in charge of an escort, composed of delegations from Savannah, Macon, Atlanta and Augusta and a large number of the special friends of the deceased, who joined them at the different points on the road.

All the business houses, offices, and stores in Athens were closed during the day, and the country people for miles around the town came in to pay this last sad tribute to their departed friend.

The procession to the cemetery was composed of the special escort before alluded to, the members of the Masonic Lodge, the Odd Fellows' Lodge, the two Societies of the State University, the members of the Bar, the President and Professors of the University, the Clergy and citizens generally of Athens and the adjoining counties.

Religious exercises were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Flinn, for a long time Chaplain of Gen. Cobb's command in Virginia, the Rev. Mr. Warren, the pastor of the Baptist Church in Macon, and the Rev. Mr. Key of the Methodist Church. The sermon of Mr. Flinn was an eloquent and feeling tribute to the virtues and excellencies of Gen. Cobb's character, and its kind and touching sentiments met a hearty response from the grief-stricken community which crowded around the bier of their esteemed and venerated friend. Although Gen. Cobb had not made an outward profession of relion, it is known that for months past he has been anxiously seeking that consolation which alone is found in the service of the Lord and the practice of His precepts. While at the North he had announced to the members of his family, who were then with him, his determination, as soon as he returned home to put on the habiliments of Christ by uniting himself to the Baptist Church, of which his wife is a member.

Few men have ever lived in Athens who so endeared themselves to the whole people as Gen. Cobb. And the deep and pervading grief of the entire population of the city showed how much and how well they loved him. Each person, male and female, in that long procession wept over his bier as though it contained the remains of a dear relative. Even the innocent prattle of the little children was hushed in the presence of that grief-stricken community, and the streets and thoroughfares of the city were as still and silent as the grave.

ABYSSINIA.

Renewal of Internal Dissensions.

The intelligence from this country brings accounts of the renewal of internal dissensions among the native chiefs whose claims for royal authority were partially extinguished by Theodore. The Atlantic cable confirms the report of the coronation as mEperor of Wagshum Gobazie, who was Theodore's bitter enemy and the most successful of the insurrectionary chiefs. Wagshum Gobazie is the hereditary Shum or Prince of Wag, a district of Lasta. Until very recently he appears to have exercised jurisdiction over the larger portion of the province of Tigre, and several chiefs in Northern Abyssinia acknowledged his supremacy. During the British war of invasion he maintained a large army near Magdala, and he frequently boasted that he would attack the camp of Theodore. The British were in direct communication with Gobazie, and it has been reported that he sent a friendly message to Sir Robert Napier. Prince Kassai or Kassa, is reported to be the most powerful native ally of the new sovereign. This prince joined the Wagshum Gobazie in his first rebellion against Theodore, but subsequently turned against Gobazie, wresting from him the larger portion of the territory of Tigre. His last exploit was the sacking of Adowa, the capital. The relations between him and the Wagshum were for years unfriendly, and his overtures to the British were made with a view to strengthen his position against a formidable antagonist. Since the return march of the English the chiefs have evidently become reconciled.

THE APPEAL TO THE AVALANCHE.

The Avalanche of yesterday, in an article of greater length than we can afford in answer, takes us to task for our "statement of circulation." We know the figures to be correct. They have been so vouched for to us by our Superintendent of Circulation, who is prepared to substantiate them on oath. The editor or editors of the APPEAL have not and never will knowingly indite or print a falsehood of any of its contemporaries. As to what is termed "adulation," we propose, in common with all engaged in business, to advertise what we have to sell, to the very best advantage—just as any grocer or dry goods dealer may advertise his wares as superior to those of any others engaged in the same business. And we will do this just as we have, without consulting our contemporaries, and without reflecting, or intending to reflect upon any of them.

We have been careful in all of our statements or paragraphs, not to mention the Avalanche, or any of our contemporaries, because we do not believe in originating or sustaining a war of words, upon a matter that has never, to our knowledge, been settled on any other than the basis of "a man convinced against his will, will be of the same opinion still."

THE FAIR.

For a beginning, the Agricultural Society of Shelby county made a "good showing" yesterday, the weather considered. The attendance was encouraging. Under most unpropitious circumstances the Fair brought together the choice spirits who approve and encourage such undertakings by something more than mere well-wishing—by work, and by such other efforts as may be demanded of them. Nearly all of the officers were present. Hon. LANDON C. HAYNES having been prevented by sickness from attending, his duties, or so much of them as devolved upon him, the opening speech, fell to the lot of Judge SWAYNE, who in a few but pointed and suggestive remarks inaugurated, we hope, an era of revival of interest in mechanical and agricultural industries on the part of our people.

The entries of stock are not so many as we expected, but the number of blooded horses surpasses what we looked for. The show of hogs was very good, that of Mr. NYE particularly attracted our attention.

The entries of stoves and tin-ware, of house-building material, or evidences of painter's skill, are not quite what they ought to be, but the agricultural implements are in numbers and variety beyond our anticipations.

Our housekeepers have not quite done their duty. In the domestic department the show of preserves, pickles, canned fruits and vegetables, butter, cakes and bread is mainly confined to a few persons. We noticed a pair of crochet curtains, a dozen or so well designed and handsome quilts, of silk and worsted, a few pieces of embroidery, and wreaths encased under glass. Before the war our women were somewhat famous for their domestic industries, and are yet. To sustain their credit, we hope they will make haste to retrieve their failure to compete, on a scale becoming them, on the first day of the Fair, and enter something more of their handiwork before the close.

We trust the weather will clear up sufficiently to-day to admit of a large attendance of the visitors who, within the past few days, have filled our hotels and boarding houses. And, also, that our citizens may bestir themselves to patronise and support an effort that reflects creditably upon the gentlemen having the Fair in charge, and who have labored so assiduously for its success. We are encouraged to believe they will, and that nothing but the miserable weather that set in on Monday has so far prevented them.

ENCOURAGING.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer of Monday last, we extract the following summary of the result of the recent elections. It agrees so exactly with our own conclusions that we give it to our readers with our endorsement as to its correctness:

The smoke of the great political battle which has enveloped the States of Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania, has now been dissipated, and we can clearly see the field before us. In Indiana, which was 15 000 against us at the last election, the Radical majority is not now 1000. The fight in that State has, in fact, been a drawn one. The home of the Radical candidate for Vice-President, Mr. Colfax, which was expected to give 20,000 Radical majority at the October election, has disappointed all their calculations. The most sanguine Republican who has hitherto claimed it as certain for the ticket, will admit that it now hangs trembling in the balance, with an even chance for the Democracy.

In Pennsylvania the Radicals on a poll of more than 600,000, have a small apparent majority for their State ticket, but it is so little a per centage of the whole vote as to be a very unsafe element for future calculations. This meager result has been achieved by base fraud. Many thousands of naturalized citizens had their votes rejected, throughout the State by dishonest Radical judges of election—many more, in fact, than was necessary to have carried it for the Democracy. The Democracy of the old Keystone State—which is notoriously Democratic—can easily redeem it at the coming election. All that is wanted to secure that result is a bold and vigorous canvass.

In Ohio the proud majority of 43,000, which the Radicals had at the last Congressional election, has dwindled down to some 17,000, and accompanying the loss is the supplanting of four Radical members of Congress with four Democrats. In Indiana and Pennsylvania we have also made, over dishonest apportionments, very decided gains in the Congressional delegations. There has probably been a change of sixteen votes in the next House of Representatives against the Jacobin faction. A similar change in all the States would almost tie the House, where they have had one hundred majority. While complete success has not perched upon our banners, we have at least shaken the enemy in his strongholds, and given him an earnest of our prowess in the general battle which is soon to take place. Let us now make every arrangement for that momentous conflict. Clear the deck of the ship for action.

So handsome a showing should encourage us to believe that our cause is not hopeless. On the contrary, that we are to-day, as a party, in better condition for the greater contest in November than we could possibly have been had we, without the developments of October, struggled on in blind self-confidence that we were equal to the emergency. We now know what we have to accomplish, and in great part what we have on hand as material to accomplish it with. Thus encouraged, we echo the words of the Enquirer, "clear the decks for action;" and we pipe "all hands to their posts."

HOW THE DEMOCRACY OF OHIO FEEL.

Better than any words of ours could convey the good news, the following address to the Democracy of Ohio, from the Central Committee of that State, will tell the readers of the APPEAL that our brothers of the Buckeye State are encouraged rather than downcast by the result of their recent contest with the Radical party and are continuing the fight for SEYMOUR and BLAIR in right gallant style.

Admirable in its reasoning, full of sensible suggestions and true in its historic precedents, this address is just the document to counteract the baleful influences of the World's defection to the ticket and its half-way endorsement of the Radical denunciations of our standard-bearers. With pride and pleasure we present it to our readers:

ROOMS OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE EX. COM., }
COLUMBUS, October 19, 1868. }

Without pretending to deny that the results of the recent elections are injurious to the best interests of the country in the defeat of local tickets and many patriotic Democrats, a careful survey of the field shows us that there is nothing in those results to justify despondency or excuse any relaxation of the efforts of the Democracy in behalf of the cause of Constitutional liberty, for which they so nobly struggled in Ohio.

Although beaten by a small majority in a poll of over five hundred thousand votes, the result shows that the Democracy have gained between ten and fifteen thousand votes on the State ticket, while the enemy have been unable to maintain their strength of four years ago, and have, in addition, lost no less than four Congressmen; and their successful candidates such meager majorities as to justify the most strenuous efforts to carry their districts at the November election.

In the Presidential year of 1864, the Democracy polled eighteen thousand more votes at the November election than they did at the October election, and were then beaten over fifty thousand. A similar gain this year will give Ohio to Seymour and Blair—those last tribunes of the people and of freedom. The means and energies of the enemy, and their facilities for the perpetration of fraud, corruption and colonization, were exhausted in their desperate efforts to carry the October election, and will not confront us in November. These lawless impediments removed, the three great States of Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania, which cast more than one million five hundred thousand votes, will be redeemed, and the flag of the American Democracy still maintain its supremacy as the standard of liberty, honesty and justice throughout the world.

No cause is lost that involves such gigantic interests, and is sustained by such a myriad of pure, patriotic and indomitable men. The scale of many a battle has been turned at the moment the enemy was most exultant. History is full of examples showing that the liberties of nations, and civilization itself, have been preserved by a gallant and energetic struggle, made at a darker time than the present is for our country. The cause needs but the unwavering courage, the indomitable will, the tireless energy, and the sleepless vigilance—such as the Democracy displayed in the recent, and in many a previous contest—to secure its final triumph.

These qualities you are now called on to exert by every consideration of patriotism, honor, interest and hope—the peace of our country and the liberty of our posterity.

We implore the gallant workers and voters of the Democratic party to keep right on with the work which has gained so much under such adverse circumstances, and disdaining the counsels of timidity or the indifference of despair, continue the struggle till the last hour of the 3d of November, in the discharge of a solemn duty, the reward of which will be the redemption of our country from despotism and anarchy.

Maintain and perfect your organizations.

Countenance no shrinking.

Get out every voter.

Repel every assault.

Expose and defeat every fraud.

Rally every man to the polls on election day.

And never despair while a ray of hope remains to illuminate, or a plank to stand on.

Fought in this spirit, the two weeks yet remaining will serve not only to retrieve a temporary defeat, but to achieve a permanent and triumphant success.

[Signed] E. F. BINGHAM, Chairman.
W. W. WEBB, Secretary.

THE NORFOLK COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.

From the proceedings of the second day, as published in the Norfolk Journal, we learn that our delegates from Memphis to the Commercial Convention, owing to the failure of our Chamber of Commerce to properly instruct them as to subscriptions of stock, were placed in a position of painful embarrassment, growing out of the adoption of the report of the Committee on General Business, presented by Gen. MAHONE, as follows:

The Committee charged with preparing business for the Convention, and to whom was referred the report of the Committee appointed by the Bristol Convention beg leave to say: that they have considered the recommendations made by the Bristol Convention, and recommend their approval and adoption by this Convention, and in furtherance thereof propose that a subscription of $300,000 be here and now made, by the several interests represented in this body, under the act of the General Assembly of Virginia incorporating the "International Commercial Company of the city of Norfolk;" and for this purpose, they herewith submit a form of subscription for the signatures of subscribers; and further, your Committee, at the instance of the Board of Trade of Norfolk, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"Resolved, That this Convention hails with great pleasure the interest manifested by the Western and Northwestern States in the Water-line Communication between the Valley of the Mississippi and the Atlantic Ocean, by way of the Ohio, Kanawha and James river; and in view of the importance of this work to the whole country, this Convention looks forward hopefully to its speedy completion as an improvement of great and immediate national importance."

In presenting this report, Gen. Mahone remarked that "It was an admitted fact, that the productive resources of the country interested is more than ample to sustain the enterprise now about to inaugurate a scheme for the interchange of commodities with Europe and our eastern Atlantic cities. The entire exports of the United States for the year 1856 amounted to over three hundred and ten millions, of which the Southern States exported, direct, over one hundred and fifty millions, to say nothing of the amount exported through eastern cities. The imports necessary for the South for the same period amounted to over one hundred and thirty-one millions, of which she only imported over twenty-one millions. She paid eleven millions for the services of middle-men, and in outside commissions on the same three millions more. In 1860 the value of Northern productions were one hundred and sixty-four millions, and of Southern two hundred and eight millions, while the imports of the North were three hundred and twenty-one millions, and of the South forty millions. But, it needs no argument to show that your section possesses the means for conducting direct trade with Europe. The question before this body is, shall we agree for the organization of the Steamship Company, and the immediate establishment of the service. These make up the sum and substance of the problem you have to solve. It is within the compass of the several interests of Virginia and Tennessee to make up the small amount of capital necessary to establish direct trade, which will secure to both a degree of prosperity not otherwise attainable. The Committee would as soon doubt their own individual loyalty to the scheme as to think that such a response would not be made by all sections as to place the consummation of the enterprise beyond peradventure. Its success depends on making it the common cause in the cost and management of the entire section over which its beneficial effects will be felt—no other plan will protect the interests of all parties. The Committee recommend the policy of inviting the leading American Steamship Line in charter and British steamers sailing under the British flag. They think three hundred thousand dollars enough for present purposes, and to form the basis of more extended operations hereafter."

Mr. Phillips, of Tennessee, applauded Gen. Mahone for his zeal and enterprise, but stated that there was much yet to be done to improve the railroads between this point and Bristol. He was not in favor of taking stock in the steamship line.

To which Col. William Lamb, of Virginia, responded as follows:

"And allow me, in the outset, to say that I was very much surprised to hear a gentleman from Tennessee arise and tell us that his people did not expect to subscribe to this steamship company. I cannot believe that he represents all the delegates from Tennessee. The gentleman said he was a delegate to the Bristol Convention; and what was the Bristol Convention called for? Why it was to raise a steamship line to run direct from Norfolk to Liverpool. Certainly, if they expected us in Norfolk to raise that company, there was no need of our traveling away to Bristol to do it. [Cries of "that's so."] And besides, was not the gentleman the chairman of the business committee that recommended the appointment of this very committee to get this charter and to raise a subscription? If I am incorrect, I hope he will correct me; if not I must repeat that I am astonished that he should open this cause by stating that Tennessee will not join Virginia in this great scheme. * * *

"By the way, I want to say in regard to some of the gentlemen from Tennessee taking a share for each one of their children, that when I went to Knoxville, I saw before almost every door at least eleven children, the oldest of whom were hardly able to keep the youngest out of the fire. (Laughter.) But in that case you can take one for yourself and one for the old woman."

J. R. Clapp, from Memphis, was of the opinion that a constructive reflection had been cast upon the delegation from Tennessee by the gentleman from Norfolk, Col. Lamb. He did not believe that it was individual enterprise that sustained such enterprises as was advocated. In his opinion, concentrated capital was necessary, and Memphis was disposed to do as much for the advancement of the enterprise as any other location. He did not believe that the delegation was authorized to make the contribution, and desired time to consult their constituents.

Col. Lamb arose and stated that there was no purpose in view to reflect upon Tennessee, but urged the importance of contributing to the capital stock, asked as a matter of vital necessity to secure the success of the enterprise.

* * * * * *

A gentleman from Memphis asked whether the proper legal provisions had been made by the incorporators of the "International Commercial Company."

Col. Lamb answered the gentleman's question in the affirmative; when the gentleman from Memphis informed the Convention that his delegation was not authorized to subscribe to the stock proposed, but when properly appealed to, Memphis would test with ingots her zeal in the enterprise with any other locality.

Upon a call for subscriptions the following were reported:

Norfolk	$50,000
Nashville	25,000
Petersburg	20,000
Roanoke county	2,000
Washington county	4,000
Morristown, Tenn	1,000
Montgomery county	2,000
Total	$104,000

All the above subscriptions were made by the delegations in a private capacity.

We await with some anxiety the reception of the Third Day's report, when we hope an effort was made by our delegates, under instructions from our leading capitalists, to retrieve a position made all the more embarrassing to Mr. CLAPP and his confreres, from the fact that Morristown (insignificant as compared with Memphis) subscribed $1000, and that Nashville, in no sense better off than we are, subscribed $25,000.

THE OFFICIAL journal of the Papal States on the 30th September published an apostolic letter of the Pope to all Protestant and other non-Catholic religious bodies, wherein His Holiness announces that, in his quality of universal pastor, he has convoked a General Council, and His Holiness prays earnestly at this time for their union with the Roman Catholic Church. The Pope concludes by exhorting them to profit by the occasion, and by his prayers.

Police officers arrested one John Matterson, on Atlantic street, Brooklyn, for disorderly conduct, and while conveying him to the station were assaulted by a mob of some two hundred men and women, with bricks, stones and other missiles. Two of the officers were severely injured, but held on to their prisoner. John Callary, a policeman, was fined one hundred dollars, yesterday, for striking a woman with his club, while taking her to the station-house, doing serious damage to her.

The World editorially says the views of Gov. Seymour, and not those attributed to Gen. Blair, should be regarded as the basis of the campaign. Gen. Blair has expressed his willingness to withdraw, if the good of the party requires it. We think reflection will convince him that the ticket would be stronger if some other name were substituted for his.

Late Salt Lake papers contain the proceedings of the late Mormon Conference. All the Mormon Church dignitaries were represented. It was unanimously agreed that commerce with the Gentiles should be restricted to necessities. Mormons purchasing generally will do so at the peril of expulsion from the Church. This measure is urged as necessary, in self-defense against the rapidly approaching danger from outsiders coming in with the Union Pacific railroad. They are avowed enemies of the Mormon institutions, and commercial non-intercourse alone can restrain the Mormons and encourage home manufactories.

LONDON, October 20.—The Times has an editorial on the rumored withdrawal of the Democratic candidates. It says the Democrats will doubtless think it best to fight the battle to the end, and lose, if it must be, with Governor Seymour at their head, than at so late an hour take Chase for their leader. Although power will be thrown in the hands of the Radicals, Gen. Grant is likely to act with more discretion than the balance of his party. He has evinced kindly feelings for the Southern people, and if the Radical policy is to be pressed it could not be executed under more favorable conditions than with Grant as Chief Executive.

REV. E. M. RICHARDSON, of Mississippi, will preach in the Lecture Room of the First Presbyterian Church, this Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock.

DISCHARGES in bankruptcy were issued yesterday to the following parties: Jos. M. Pennington, Jonathan S. Morton, and John F. Lea.

FOR RENT.—A nice cottage, 118 Vance street, with out-houses and stables, and all modern improvements. The furniture of said house is for sale. Enquire on the premises. 1w

OYSTERS put up by C. S. Maltby, Baltimore, are for sale at his house, No. 39 Madison street, as low, by the can or quantity, as any other house in this city. A. BLISS, Agent.

WANTED—ALL KINDS OF CITY SCRIP. City, school and police scrip and county warrants, are wanted at Memphis City Savings Bank, corner of Jefferson and Front streets.

MESSRS. JOINER & KIRKLEY, No. 34 Monroe street, keep on hand a supply of Lime, Cement and Plaster. Those needing any of these articles should give them a call.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY hold an election to-morrow morning for officers for the ensuing year. Every member of the Society is earnestly requested to be present.

THE WEATHER, yesterday, was dismal and gloomy in the extreme. The rain, which commenced to fall early in the morning, continued pretty much all day, and at present writing, is still falling.

HOUSE WANTED.—I want to rent for three years, a good dwelling of not less than seven rooms, within five minutes' walk of Court square.

B. J. SEMMES,
3t 224 Second street, Irving Block.

JOE LOCKE, 236½ Main street, has the very latest illustrated papers and magazines, sporting and newspapers from all parts of the country. New Orleans papers received daily. The freshest periodic or serial reading matter always on his tables.

CROWDED.—For the past few days our city has borne unmistakable evidences of a most gratifying condition of activity and liveliness. The hotels, boarding-houses, inns, taverns and "wagon yards" are full of guests, and the streets yesterday, in spite of the rain, were crowded with strange and new faces. So many strangers have not been in the city before at one time since the war.

THE GALAXY, for November, has come to hand, prompt and welcome as ever. The present number contains seventeen articles—all of them interesting and well written. Among its contributors this month, are Edward A. Pollard and Eugene Benson. A letter from Louis Napoleon to his mother, describing "the attempt at Strasbourg," is one of the most interesting articles.

MUSICAL TREAT.—We learn from a circular sent us by D. DeVivo, manager, that Parepa Rosa, the celebrated prima donna and favorite cantatrice, after a very successful season in California, on her return to New York, in November, will start on a tour of concerts and oratorios through the South and West. She promises to take Memphis in her route, and give us a chance to hear a voice which has created such an unbounded sensation throughout the musical world.

THE IRVING ASSOCIATION.—We are informed that the usual monthly hop of the Irving Association has been postponed until Thanksgiving eve, when a grand affair is proposed for the occasion. These hops of the Irving Association have always been among the most pleasant reunions of our young folks, and we are quite sure that the one in prospect will be all that is promised or expected. On next Monday evening, the entertainment will be exclusively literary and musical, which promises also to be very interesting and pleasant.

THE KING OF PAIN AGAIN.—We take the following from the Robertson Register. We will say, however, this much for "Dr." George McBride Lawrence: he paid his advertising and printing bills in Memphis, and they were pretty large, at that: "A long-eared, kinky-haired, blue-eyed Yankee villain, hailing from Memphis, who calls himself Dr. George McBride Lawrence, King of Pain, pretending to cure all diseases, pains and aches, left our city on Wednesday morning last, the 14th inst., indebted to the Register office twelve dollars for dodgers and one dollar for a local notice. We will be pleased if our exchanges will hand him around. He has a very long, bushy head of hair, very presuming in his actions, and, in a word, his looks show him to be a thief and scoundrel."

A BUSY man is a locomotive and life a track. Every night he drives into "the house" and stops. Every morning he is fired up anew, and away he goes, switching off in one direction and then in another. In this routine of business he forgets that the physical organization is of the most delicate kind. If a hard iron locomotive needs constant care, and to be well oiled up and rubbed off every day, how much more necessary is it that all men and women should use Plantation Bitters, which are the ne plus ultra of everything which is necessary to keep the system in a perfect tone of health.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. 3tdaw

A NEW RESTAURANT—GRAND FREE SUPPER.—Messrs. Wardlaw & Kingdon, two of our enterprising young citizens, have taken the magnificent store formerly occupied by Mayer, Marschuetz & Co., on the corner of Second and Jefferson streets, and have converted it into a most elegant and commodious restaurant, which they propose to call the "St. Charles Eating House." The room is about one hundred feet deep, and in this they have arranged an elegant marble top counter, forty-two feet long. Besides this there are to be several small tables at the side, where those preferring can have their meals. Messrs. Wardlaw & Kingdon propose to keep open night and day, at all hours, a first class eating house, where everything that a bonvivour can want, will be served up in the best style and at living prices. This evening Messrs. Wardlaw & Kingdon open the St. Charles with a GRAND FREE SUPPER, to which everybody is invited.

THE THEATER.—In consequence of the abominable weather the theater was not so well attended last night as on the opening night. There was, considering all things, however, a most respectable turnout, especially of ladies, to see Fanchon; or Little Fadette. Miss Charlotte Thompson as "Fanchon," was charming, and pleased us more than any actress that we have seen in the role, except, perhaps, Maggie Mitchell. Mr. Theodore Hamilton was quite a success as "Landry," and showed that he is destined to become as great a favorite with the Memphians as he was formerly with Mobilians. Mr. Hamilton's figure is fine, his voice clear and thrilling, and his gesticulations most natural and unaffected. Where all are so clever, however, it is invidious to mention names, and as we have not the space for a more extended notice, we can only say of the whole company that they succeeded, not only in keeping up the favorable impression which they made the first night, but gave further assurances of excellence, which cannot fail to make the season at the New Memphis a perfect success.

THE AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

The Opening Yesterday.

Postponement of the Oration.

The clouds which for several days previous had overspread the skies, and had given us occasional sprinkles, yesterday morning before daylight commenced pouring down rain, and continued to do so, almost without intermission, all day long. This of course threw a damper over all the preparations which had been made for the grand opening day of the Fair, and detained at home hundreds, and perhaps thousands, who would otherwise have been present. The street cars which were advertised to run out to the grounds every ten minutes, did not need to put on any extra cars, or, indeed, to increase their trips in the slightest, to accommodate all who wished to go out. There were, perhaps, two hundred and twenty-five or two hundred and fifty persons at the grounds during the day, including exhibitors and the officers of the Society, all of whom, except the President, (who was ill) the Recording Secretary and one Vice-President, were present. Among the visitors were several ladies, whom the storm and mud could not frighten, and whose presence, under the circumstances, ought to put to the blush those members of the Society, of the sterner sex, who stayed at home.

The grounds were in as good a condition as could have been expected, and the preparations in the hall and at the stands, were all that could be desired. The ladies' stand was perfectly dry, as were the lunch rooms, and the Floral Hall, which latter was handsomely decorated with articles of which we will speak at the proper time, in full.

About midday, Judge Swayne entered the ladies stand, and said that he was requested to announce that owing to the inclemency of the weather, the oration by Col. Landon Haynes would not be delivered then, but would be postponed until Thursday. The Judge further stated that he had been requested to make an address, but he begged to be excused. He, however, in a few neat and well timed remarks spoke of the advantages to be derived from agricultural exhibitions, and urged upon his hearers the principle that it is through such means that we must make ourselves a free and a happy people. He had more hopes from agricultural societies and exhibitions than in any or all the political movements that had been or could be inaugurated.

After Judge Swayne's remarks the committee appointed for the day met, and it was decided to postpone the entire programme of the day, except the examination and awarding prizes for hogs, until Friday. The Committee on Hogs, consisting of Col. Jesse A. Forrest, T. C. Blackley, Esq., and Frank Rogers, Esq., then made the following awards:

Berkshires, best boar, one entry. Certificate to A. B. Haynes. Best sow, one entry; certificate to A. B. Haynes.

Essex, best pair hogs, one entry, certificate to J. E. R. Ray, Esq.

Chester Whites, best boar, two entries, C. A. Rose, premium, and J. E. R. Ray certificate. Best sow, same. Best pair of pigs under six months old, four entries, premium to C. A. Rose and certificate to J. E. R. Ray.

Suffolk, best pair hogs, one entry, certificate to Col. C. D. McLean.

Best two fat hogs of any breed, one entry, certificate to J. E. R. Ray.

A special prize of three dollars was established on the grounds for the best pair of Neapolitan hogs. There was only one entry, and the certificate was awarded to R. J. Persons, Esq.

Best sow and pigs, (not less than five) five entries, premium to G. C. Holmes and certificate to C. A. Rose.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, held on the ground, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That on Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, the Society do proceed to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The programme for to-day remains the same as that already announced. Let us hope that the skies may be more propitious, and that to-day the really splendid Fair grounds will be crowded with visitors.

NEWS FROM THE FAIR.—The following gushing paragraph is from the local columns of the Ledger of yesterday evening: "The Shelby County Agricultural and Mechanical Fair was attracting large crowds of visitors this morning, and cars were running out and in briskly, until Madam Nature commenced weeping and put a damper on the throng, who left the show at noon in a state of dullness. The address of Col. Landon C. Haynes, deliverd at ten o'clock, was very appropriate, and was listened to with marked attention and seemingly great interest. The ladies' stand was crowded with the fair daughters of Shelby, who were evidently well delighted with all they heard and saw. A fine band discoursed sweet music, which happily chimed with the congratulations of friends and old acquaintances, and the happy reunion of the enterprising and industrious members of the community." The Fair did not attract large crowds of visitors yesterday. The cars did not yesterday, and never did, run briskly in this town. Col. Landon C. Haynes did not deliver an address, and consequently was not listened to with "marked attention," or "seemingly great interest." The ladies' stand was not "crowded with the fair daughters of Shelby." There were perhaps a half dozen ladies present, and they were evidently not delighted at what they saw—especially the mud. With the exception of these trifling inaccuracies the report is otherwise quite correct.

DEATH OF CHARLES H. HAILE.—The tidings of the death of Charlie Haile will be received with sadness by his many friends in this community. He died at the residence of his uncle, John Kirtland, at Orange, New Jersey, on Tuesday evening, October 13th, of Consumption, in the thirty-first year of his age. He commenced his business career in this city in 1855 with the banking house of Cherry, Caldwell & Co., afterwards C. W. Cherry & Co., as did also his two brothers, William and George. He remained with Messrs. Cherry & Co. about five years, when his remarkable business capacity was recognized and acknowledged by his being elected to fill the highly responsible position of Cashier of the Branch of the Bank of Tennessee at Memphis, which office he filled most creditably until the occupation Memphis by the Federal forces, when he was sent South with the assets of the Bank, which he turned over intact to the proper authorities, after the surrender.

Like his brother William, who died of consumption, in Cuba, and George, who died of the same disease, in Minnesota, Charlie has at last succumbed to the dread malady. His many virtues and fine traits of character are well known to a large circle of personal friends and business acquaintances throughout this and the adjoining States. Kind-hearted, generous, sensitive, and actuated by the strictest integrity, united to a business knowledge equaled by few, he soon not only won the love and esteem of a large circle of friends, but the admiration and respect of our business community.

He spent several years in traveling, visiting Cuba, South America, Europe and other countries, in the hope of restoring his failing health, but alas, of no avail—he has been cut off in the prime of life.

May his many virtues be cherished in the hearts of his many friends.

TERRIBLE AFFRAY.

John Cosgrove Shot and Stabbed by Alderman O'Donnell.

His Wounds Probably Fatal.

Yesterday evening, between four and five o'clock, during a drizzling rain, an affray took place on North Court street, between Alderman Thomas O'Donnell and John Cosgrove, in which the latter was shot and cut by the former, in what is supposed to be a fatal manner. The circumstances attending the affray are enveloped to a certain extent in mystery, and owing to the fact that there was no one upon the street at the time of its occurrence, it is exceedingly difficult to obtain any reliable information in relation to it. The following are the circumstances as near as could be learned:

About the time mentioned the inhabitants of that portion of North Court between the Alley and Second street, were startled at hearing the report of a Derringer pistol, and on going to their doors and windows, saw Cosgrove running down North Court street, bleeding profusely, and closely pursued by O'Donnell. On reaching the Alley, at the office of the Southern Express Company, Cosgrove turned and ran toward Jefferson street, and O'Donnell, in pursuing him, was met at the corner and stopped by Officer Henry Hempel, of the First District Metropolitan Police, who took him into custody. Several parties who had come up, also took in charge Cosgrove, who by this time had become faint and weak from loss of blood, and conveyed him to the office of Dr. Lynch, on the corner of East Court and Second streets, where he was immediately examined by the Doctor, who found that he was wounded in seven places, six of which were cuts, and one was from a pistol-shot—the latter being almost in the center of the back and penetrating the spine. Three of the cuts were in the kidneys, and are considered as necessarily fatal. O'Donnell was carried to the First District station house and put under arrest.

The above are the immediate circumstances attending the affray; the causes which led to it are not known positively but are supposed to be as follows:

Some days ago Alderman O'Donnell lost a valuable dog, which was found in the possession of a gentleman of the city, of the legal profession, who, as soon as he learned that it belonged to O'Donnell, gave it up, informing him at the time that it had been given to him by one of his clients, but mentioned no name. Upon this, Mr. O'Donnell published the following card in the APPEAL of Wednesday, October 14th:

A CARD OF THANKS.—To the party who stole my dog and presented him to a well known attorney of this city I feel that I owe a few words. The dog was, no doubt, given as part payment of a fee for keeping the thief out of the penitentiary for some older crime committed by him, but it will take several dogs to prevent him from meeting his reward in this case as soon as I ascertain his name.
T. W. O'DONNELL, McCall street.

It appears that Cosgrove was the party who had taken the dog, and he was very much incensed at the publication of the card, making threats, it is said, to kill O'Donnell on sight. Yesterday morning Cosgrove went to the saloon of Dan McGeowan on Adams street, and borrowed a pair of Derringers from him, and after he got possession of them, said to McGeowan that he intended to kill O'Donnell with them. This is the rumor, at least. We cannot, of course, vouch for the truth of it. McGeowan being a friend of O'Donnell, tried to get the pistols back from Cosgrove, and failing to do so, took the earliest opportunity to inform O'Donnell of the threat. O'Donnell armed himself with a Derringer pistol and a Bowie-knife, and, on meeting Cosgrove on North Court street the affray of which we have given an account occurred, the commencement of which, whether it was by O'Donnell or Cosgrove, no one knows. It is said by some that some one had stolen the Derringers out of Cosgrove's pockets while he was asleep, during the afternoon, a fact of which he was ignorant, and on meeting O'Donnell, thinking himself still armed, he told him to defend himself, upon which O'Donnell drew his Bowie and commenced on him. Cosgrove soon finding out that his pistols were gone, attempted flight, and was shot by O'Donnell as he ran. The truth, if not in exact accordance with these statements, will be found not to differ from them very materially. The whole affair will probably appear in the examination this morning at eight o'clock.

At half-past eleven o'clock Cosgrove, who had been moved to his house on the corner of Poplar street and Center alley, was in the very last stages, and could not speak above a whisper. It was then thought impossible for him to live an hour.

Resolved, That we do now adjourn, to meet on Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock, at the hall of the Irish Literary Association, at which time and place all persons favoring the Henry A. THE "VALLEY RAILROAD."

Copy of a Letter Addressed to a Property Holder who Opposes the Scheme Because it will Increase his Taxes.

October 18, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

I would be glad, (because it would serve the interest of the proposed railroad), to see published in the APPEAL the following "extinguished" address to a gentleman living near the line who was against the road because "it would enhance the assessed valuation of his land, and thus increase his taxes."

BIG CREEK.

Dear Sir: Allow me to submit the following for your consideration: Taxation is a curse; wealth necessitates taxation: therefore wealth is a curse. Now I propose to relieve you entirely of this "curse." Just give your property to me and you shall have no more taxes to pay.

But to the issue, and in few words: You either wish to sell your land, or you do not. If you want to sell, you acknowledge the railroad enhances its assessed value; but how can this market value be thus enhanced without corresponding demand? For demand and supply regulate values and prices. All railroads, specially running direct North, enhance, improve and ameliorate the countries through which they pass, and immigration, population, demand and money are the inevitable concomitants, as illustrated at this moment by the Pacific, and heretofore by the Illinois Central and all other railroads.

Will you obligate yourself to sell to me after the road is completed, say eighteen months from now, for the price you can get at this time, with the addition of twenty per centum? But twenty per cent. on your land would amount to over $2000, while we only ask a contribution from you of $500, not to be paid until the road is completed.

But suppose you do not wish to sell. The products of your orchards and garden, of not more than two or three acres altogether, of that which is wasted, not gathered, or thrown away, will, in one year, more than pay the subcription of $500, as instance:

100 bushels peaches, at $2 per bushel	$ 00 00
100 " apples, at $1 " "	200 00
50 " pears, at $5 " "	250 00
100 quarts strawberries, at 50 cts per qt.	50 00
200 watermelons, at 50 cents	100 00
200 canteloupes, at 25 cents	50 00
200 dozen early roasting corn, at 50 cents per dozen	100 00
200 bushels early potatoes, at $2 per bushel	400 00
100 " green peas, at $2 50 per bushel	250 00
100 bushels tomatoes, at $5 per bushel	500 00
	$ 100 00

Two thousand dollars in one year, from two, or three, or four acres, most of it made and wasted every year. Remember the above are the prices in Northern cities every spring, where ours will reach by the proposed railroad a month before their's come in. Remember, too, that these are but samples of the field to be opened before us by this great engine of modern progress.

Now, in view of the great advantages and facilities offered, is it not our true policy to secure this great improvement at once? And, as a neighbor and friend, let me ask is it not our duty individually, required by common honesty, to contribute our part, as we shall reap the same? This Road (the Mississippi Valley Railroad) must and will be built. It only remains to be seen if you, (and I cannot believe it) or who, will oppose, or supinely sit, the willing beneficiaries of other men's money and labor.

Yours truly,
S. S. REMBERT.

REGISTER.

The Democrat or Conservative who is entitled to a vote in the coming election, and who fails to use it, is a traitor to his cause and a betrayer of his kind. Not to vote in this contest is to add votes to the ranks of the enemy. Before any man can vote he must register. To register, then, and that immediately, is the imperative duty of every man. Herein, then, fail not! Go to the Registrar today, and if he will not register you go "to-morrow and to morrow." Your vote may decide the election. It may save the State. It may disenthrall the white race of Tennessee. It is of incalculable value. Therefore, GO AND REGISTER!

THE CIRCUS.—The magnificent pavilion of Ames' great circus was quite crowded yesterday, both at the matinee and the evening performance, with hundreds of our young and old folks who like a good show. The procession in the streets attracted great attention, and the admiration of the beautiful horses and handsome equipments was quite eclipsed by the wonderment which was excited by the marvelous powers of Herr Lengel and Senorita Ella Eugenie over the lions and tigers, which they play with as with kittens. The acrobatic and gymnastic exercises are wonderful, and the whole show is an excellent one. It remains with us only two more days, and everybody should make it a point to pay them a visit.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, }
MEMPHIS, October 20, 1868. }

The money market was moderately active to-day, though offers of cotton bills were not as large as they would have been had the market been firmer or the day more propitious. Some indications of sellers giving way caused buyers to hold off until late in the day when the rain set in heavily and less was done than was anticipated. Rates of exchange are the same as yesterday, except in the case of offerings on Fall River, which is taken at ⅛ discount. We have only a light demand to report and fair receipts of currency.

Gold opened in New York to-day at 137⅝, and at noon had declined ⅛c. We quote 135, buying.

In bonds or stocks there was little doing to-day. A sale of $3000 City Bonds was reported at 52c.

City Scrip is firm and tendency upwards. Buyers offered 77@78c to-day. Selling at 80@85c, as to amount.

County Warrants are firm. Buying at 60@62c; selling at 62@65c.

Police and School Scrip are firm and unchanged.

A writer in the Chicago Times has shown why the National Bank interest is so powerful in the present political contest, and how their capital might be profitably invested. We quote from the article:

It seems that the Democratic papers of the country, while closely and fully discussing other branches of the great financial questions, are now almost as still as death about the monstrous swindle known as the National Bank system. I have recently made some calculations, a la Atkinson, as to the amount of money that can be made out of it by the bankers. I have invested an imaginary capital of $300,000 of greenbacks in 5-20 bonds. I deposit those bonds in the Treasury Department, organize my bank, and am furnished with an issue of $270,000 in other 5-20 bonds, and deposit them in like manner, and draw an issue of $243,000 of national currency. I again with that amount buy other bonds, and deposit that same in like manner as the first, and draw an issue of $218,700 of national currency. And so on until I have 50,000 national currency left to operate my bank with besides, the deposits of customers. And, having only invested $300,000 of greenbacks, I am yet the owner of $2,544,423 of United States 5-20 bonds, and draw an annual interest in gold of $152,665 38; and in greenbacks, at $1 40, it would be $213,631 53. Remember, I have only $300,000 of actual capital invested, and that in greenbacks; and I draw an annual interest on that investment of nearly $214,000. I might still further continue the calculation, until I had only $5000 left; and then I wou'd draw an annual interest on my $300,000 capital of $247,116. That is, nearly ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. on the capital invested.

Henry, Clews & Co., of New York, in their circular of the 14th, says:

The South now requires a much larger retail circulation than at any previous period. The cotton crop is no longer raised upon credit and distributed in settlement of credits, without the intervention of money. The crop of this year has been raised principally upon the planter's own means; and when he realizes upon it, he will, for the most part, require cash in payment. The negroes are not, as formerly, fed and clothed with commodities obtained on credit and ultimately paid for in cotton; they receive wages for their labor, and like the working population of the North, are constantly circulating currency. This changed condition of things creates a necessity for a large increase in the supply of circulation at the South; and as there are few local banks to supply it by their issues, the want must be met by drawing upon the circulation of other sections. It is impossible to note these fluctuations in the requirements for circulation without perceiving the evil of the restrictions upon bank issues imposed by the National Bank Act and the necessity of measures giving elasticity to the circulation. It would appear inevitable that the great practical inconveniences growing out of this limitation must early elicit a public demand that there shall be no other restriction upon the bank circulation than what may arise from the requirements of commerce and a reasonable deposit for protecting the note holder.

On Wednesday last the new system of selling Government gold by open tender was fairly inaugurated in New York. The Assistant Treasurer received bids for a sum of $300,000. Bids were received from nineteen firms aggregating $3,330,000 at prices ranging from 136 to 136⅞. The successful bids were for $100,000 at 136⅞ and $.00,000 at 136-80. A noticeable feature of the tenders were their close relation to the selling prices of gold in the open market. The lowest quotations on Wednesday were 136⅞, and the highest 137⅞. This sympathy between the tenders and the market rates is rendered the more remarkable from the obvious contingency of fluctuations if not excitement in consequence of the election news. The sales of gold will continue every day in the same manner until a sum of $3,030,000 shall have been sold. Of course the sales are for immediate delivery.

COTTON.

The market was steady in Liverpool at the opening to-day, with Uplands 10⅞d; Orleans 11d. It was steady, with a fair demand at the close. Sales 10,000 bales. Quotations unchanged. The New York market is quiet but firm. Uplands 25½c. At noon stock on hand was firm, but lots to arrive were easier. In our market there was a disposition upon the part of buyers to hold off, looking for sellers to ease up in their views, but there was not much done and prices were if anything ½c under the quotations of yesterday. Among the sales were 37 bales Good Ordinary at 21½c, 24 do. 21¼c, 15 at 21c; 50 Low Middlings at 22c, 50 at 22½c, 40 at 22c, 10 at 22c, 88 at 22c, 90 at 22½; 50 Middlings at 22½c, 150 at 22¾c, 50 at 22½c; 19 Strict Middings at 23c, 4 at 24c, 20 at 23½c, 55 at 23½c. We quote:

Good Ordinary	21@21¾
Low Middlings	22@22½
Middlings	22¾@23¾
Strict Middlings	23@23½

TRADE.

The opening day of our Fair was not by any means of a cheering kind. Rain fell during the day, preventing hundreds who otherwise would have been present from leaving their homes and hotels. As a full report of the proceedings will be found in our local column we forbear saying anything further on the subject. Our general markets partook somewhat of the nature of the weather and were not favorable in the estimation of dealers. We are short of many articles in the way of supplies, and our meat market may be said to be entirely bare. Some lots were looked for on the Silver Moon and City of Cairo, but did not arrive in time for this day's business. Some few small lots of clear sides were held in store at 18½c by the cask and were jobbing out at 19c. Several lots to arrive were offered at 18½c. Mess Pork is also scarce. Small orders can't be filled at less than $33 50@34; while lots to arrive are held at $32. There is no Old Corn in the market. 400 bushels of New ear on levee sold at 61c. Hay is scarce, in fact we know of none except what is held by retailers. There is no change in other markets, but all articles are firm at yesterday's quotations.

Several prominent citizens of St. Louis have just been indicted before the U. S. Grand Jury in connection with fraudulent or illicit operations in whisky. Among them are Dan. Able, Charles Elleard, Chas Maurice and E. B. Brown.

The New York dry goods market continues to present a quiet appearance, there being relatively but few out-of-town buyers in the city and the representations of the large provincial firms purchasing only to the extent requisite to keep a fairly assorted stock on hand.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

MEMPHIS, October 21.—It rained all day yesterday and was one of the most disagreeable days we have seen for some weeks.

A steady decline goes on in the river opposite this city, and the same is true of all the upper streams as well as those of Arkansas.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Notwithstanding the rain our local packets all had good trips and went out with their cabins full of people.

Capt. Dick Fowler returned yesterday from a short business trip to Clarkesville.

On and after Monday next the packets of the Memphis and St. Louis line will leave this port at four instead of five p.m., as at present. This change has been rendered necessary in order to make close connections with trains above.

The bright Silver Moon gets away today for Cairo and Cincinnati. Capt. Ben. Merrielees, her master, is one of the greediest cotton men coming to this port, and always gets what he can carry.

The little steamer Brooks which recently sunk between Jacksonport and Augusta will no doubt be raised. Her place was immediately filled by the Fairy Queen, which had been laid up for some time.

The position of a Local Inspector must be a "big thing" under our very liberal Government. Fifty dollars a year is the allowance made them for all traveling expenses. At $4 per day for board alone, without counting fare by rail or river, how far would that amount go? The Inspector of the District, however, is allowed $1000 traveling money yearly, and spends probably $100 of it. There are several boats in the district which do not touch at any point where an Inspector is located and consequently the law is neglected so far as they are concerned. Mr. Guthrie has not visited this portion of his vineyard for a long time. If he does not pay more attention to his duties he will shortly be invited to make room for one who will—so says late Washington gossip.

The W. A. Caldwell, Capt. Haines, will leave as usual on Thursday for Pine Bluff and Little Rock, taking the U. S. mail to the former port.

The Pauline Carroll, owing to the fog, did not leave our landing until about daylight this morning.

The Cora S., Capt. Yerkes, passes up for Louisville and Cincinnati to-day. She makes all way landings. Al. Croxall is her clerk.

The Marble City, Capt. Conway, leaves on Thursday for Cairo and St. Louis.

The splendid City of Alton, Capt. Bill Thompson, will be in port to leave this evening for Cairo and St. Louis. She is on her way up the river, and has a fair trip. Mr. White is her popular chief clerk. No better men cou'd be found to travel with than the firm of Thompson and White.

The towboat Mary Alice passed up yesterday morning.

The City of Cairo took a lot of cotton for the Diamond Line.

The Peosta has laid up alongside the new ferryboat, and her machinery will be immediately transferred to the latter boat.

The boats of the Memphis and St. Louis line are getting large up freights. We are pleased to see it, and hope they may soon be able to put on a daily line.

The swift, elegant, capacious and truly great steamer Mississippi came in last evening from above with a good freight, and leaves to-day at 5 p.m. for Vicksburg, Natchez and New Orleans. Capt. Nat Green, her master, is probably as popular among travelers—especially the fairer portion of them—as any man can be who weighs 280 pounds avordupois, and every ounce of that good nature. Cook Creighton, though popular, is not as heavy as his chief, but will be so in time. John Langlois—well, John never will get fat. He has not the time. Shippers must not forget the regular packet, and should give her all their freight.

Capt. W. B. Nowland, of the Ozark, did not go out on his packet this trip. He and Capt. J. D. Adams were still in this city yesterday.

Capt. Tom Bowman, who returned on Monday from Louisville, informs us that his new steamer St. Francis will be out in about three weeks. She is an elegant packet, and will be a credit to our city.

Capt. W. W. Fenton sold the Silver Spray on Saturday last, at Cincinnati, with her trip on board, for the sum of $13,000.

Sunday's St. Paul Press says: Last evening while Mrs. Leopold, wife of the clerk of the Annie Johnson, was handling her husband's revolver in the office of the boat, it was discharged, the ball entering the palm of her left hand, and coming out near the wrist joint, inflicting a wound that may cause her the necessity of amputation.

DR. JAMES is recommended by the press of the country, by professors of medical colleges, and by the medical profession generally. Those afflicted should apply to him, and be cured at once.
